

dd-cfDNA and GEP in Kidney Transplantation – Redundant or Complementary?

Supported by Eurofins Transplant Diagnostics

Review the recent history of biomarkers in kidney transplant and the data surrounding current commercially available biomarkers. Discuss potential uses of biomarkers in the management of kidney transplant recipients. Review the data on the combined use of dd-cfDNA and gene expression profiling.